Investment Case

Valuation Summary 📝 To ensure the competitiveness of the investment, we conducted a thorough verification of the purchase price by analyzing recent transactions and current market values on the secondary sport card market. Our analysis confirmed that the price offered, inclusive of all associated fees, is still highly competitive. To estimate the potential ROI, we based our analysis on the Charizard (German) 1st edition Holo Base Set card with a PSA rating of 8 and 9. For the conservative scenario, we assumed the card's value would grow at the rate of Swiss inflation, taking a defensive approach. In the balanced scenario, we applied 60% of the average price increase for PSA-graded 8/9 cards over the past five years. Finally, in the ambitious scenario, we used 100% of the average price increase over the same period.

Exit Options at Maturity 🚪 We will manage the exit strategy on behalf of our investors, ensuring the best possible outcome based on market conditions at the time. Depending on the value of the card and the prevailing market situation, we can either sell the card privately to a collector or take it to auction. Both options are carefully considered, and we will choose the one that maximizes the return for our investors.

Why Invest in This Category? ⚡ Investing in Pokémon cards is particularly timely with the franchise's upcoming jubilee, expected to drive heightened interest and value appreciation in rare and nostalgic collectibles.

Why Invest in This Asset? 🔥 Investing in these two signed 1st Edition Charizard (German) cards offers a highly compelling opportunity due to their rarity, historical significance, and market demand. Since 2020, prices at auction for comparable cards signed by Arita Mitsuhiro have increased by a minimum of 20% per sale, highlighting their consistent value growth. Unpersonalized signed cards are particularly rare since Mitsuhiro typically adds the name of the cardholder to prevent resale, making these two cards exceptionally unique among only 11 PSA-graded examples. As the most recognizable and iconic Pokémon card, the 1st Edition Charizard (German) offers strong market security, even during downturns in the broader trading card market, ensuring steady demand and value retention. Combining the prominence of Charizard (German) with Mitsuhiro's renowned status as one of Pokémon's original illustrators further elevates these cards' appeal. Mitsuhiro's long-term impact on the franchise and his imminent retirement from autograph sessions make his signed cards increasingly rare. Additionally, Pokémon's enduring popularity, with the 30th-anniversary milestone approaching in 2026, is expected to drive further demand for high-value collectibles, positioning these two cards as coveted investments. Owning such culturally iconic assets blends nostalgia with financial potential, capitalizing on a growing market for rare and historically significant Pokémon memorabilia.

Context in Time ⏳ The timing for investing in rare signed 1st Edition Charizard (German) cards is especially advantageous due to several converging factors. With Pokémon's 30th anniversary approaching in 2026, global interest and demand for high-value collectibles are expected to surge. Furthermore, Arita Mitsuhiro's impending retirement from autograph sessions increases the scarcity and desirability of his signed cards. Historically, Pokémon cards have demonstrated strong price resilience and appreciation, even during market downturns. The combination of cultural significance, growing nostalgia, and heightened scarcity in the collectibles market makes now a strategic moment to invest, positioning assets for maximum potential growth and enduring value.

Conclusion 🎯 In conclusion, this investment opportunity in two signed 1st Edition Charizard (German) cards offers a blend of rarity, historical significance, and high market demand. Our rigorous valuation analysis confirms a competitive purchase price, with strong growth potential based on historical trends for similar assets. Tailored exit strategies ensure flexibility for optimal returns, while Pokémon's approaching 30th anniversary and Arita Mitsuhiro's impending retirement from autograph sessions further enhance the cards' value and scarcity. With proven resilience and increasing collector interest, this asset uniquely combines cultural appeal with solid financial potential, offering a compelling addition to any diversified portfolio.
