According to CardLadder, Michael Jordan cards have experienced an annual value increase of 21.7% over the past 20 years. Over the last 5 years, the annual value increase has been even higher, at over 41.4%. Given that this is a championship-winning card limited to only 5 pieces, the potential is even greater.

Stability

Michael Jordan cards have shown significant value appreciation for over 20 years, and his cards have lost much less value after the high price phase during the pandemic compared to most other cards of well-known athletes. Specifically, this card, which features both Jordan and Pippen and was produced worldwide in only 6 copies in two different editions, promises high price stability.

They are also easy to preserve and transfer across space and time. Michael Jordan cards have been available since his rookie season in 1984, providing 40 years of market data.
