Investment Case

Valuation Summary  To ensure the competitiveness of the investment, we conducted a thorough verification of the purchase price by analyzing recent transactions and current market values on the secondary sneaker market. Our analysis confirmed that the price offered, inclusive of all associated fees, is highly competitive. We used the historical performance data of the Nike x Louis Vuitton Air Force 1 Green, which is a comparable model. For our conservative scenario, we assumed the value of the sneaker would grow at the rate of Swiss inflation, reflecting a defensive approach. In the balanced scenario, we assume a 50% probability of realizing the growth rate of this model over the last 3 years. Finally, in the ambitious scenario, we assume an 80% probability of realizing the growth rate of this model over the last 3 years.

Exit Options at Maturity  We will manage the exit strategy on behalf of our investors, ensuring the best possible outcome based on market conditions at the time. Depending on the value of the model and the prevailing market situation, we can either sell the sneakers privately to a collector or take them to auction. Both options are carefully considered, and we will choose the one that maximizes the return for our investors.

Why Invest in This Category?  Sneakers have evolved from sportswear into high-value, collectible assets, gaining popularity as blue-chip investments. Their appeal is driven by cultural shifts, celebrity endorsements, and smart marketing. Today, sneakers sit at the intersection of fashion, art, and collectibles, fueling a booming secondary market. The global sneaker market is projected to reach USD 138,130 million by 2028, with a 7.2% annual growth rate. Historically, sneakers have shown impressive returns, with examples like the Jordan 1 Retro High Off-White Chicago delivering a 116% annualized performance over five years. This strong market growth and cultural relevance make sneakers a compelling investment opportunity.

Why Invest in This Asset?  The Nike x Louis Vuitton Air Force 1 "Green" Friends & Family edition is one of the rarest sneakers ever created, making it a holy grail among collectors. Designed by Virgil Abloh, this sneaker was never released for sale, with only 30 pairs in existence, exclusively gifted to his closest circle. This unparalleled rarity elevates it beyond typical high-end sneaker releases, placing it in the realm of ultra-exclusive cultural artifacts.

What makes this sneaker exceptionally valuable is its scarcity and provenance. Unlike the Sotheby's auction edition, which had 200 pairs publicly released and sold for up to €200,000 in US 9.5, this Friends & Family version has only two formal sales records from 2022, making it even more elusive. The lack of public transactions means its price is speculative, yet potentially much higher due to its unparalleled exclusivity.

Virgil Abloh's impact on sneaker culture and fashion is undeniable, and since his passing, the demand for his Louis Vuitton x Nike collaboration has skyrocketed. Limited edition Friends & Family (F&F) sneakers historically appreciate faster than general releases due to their exclusive nature.

With only 30 pairs worldwide, the Nike x Louis Vuitton Air Force 1 "Green" Friends & Family is not just a sneaker—it is a piece of fashion history that will remain in high demand, particularly among elite collectors, auction houses, and luxury fashion investors. As sneaker culture continues to merge with high fashion, this pair will likely set new records when it eventually hits the market.

Context in Time ⌚ Virgil Abloh's influence on both streetwear and high fashion continues to shape the industry years after his passing. His collaboration with Louis Vuitton and Nike bridged the gap between luxury and sneaker culture, setting new precedents for what footwear could represent. This specific pair, released as part of his final Nike x Louis Vuitton collection, holds immense sentimental and historical value. The timing of this investment is critical—the demand for Abloh's designs is at an all-time high, and with no additional releases forthcoming, scarcity will continue to drive prices upward.

Conclusion 🎯 The Nike x Louis Vuitton Air Force 1 "Green" Friends & Family is more than an investment; it is a rare and valuable artifact in sneaker culture. With a strong historical performance of comparable assets, increasing demand for Abloh's legacy pieces, and an extremely limited supply, this sneaker represents a unique opportunity. Whether held long-term or positioned for a strategic exit, this investment stands at the intersection of luxury, exclusivity, and high potential returns. 🚀
