Investment Decision

- Stability: Steel watches from Rolex and other Swiss manufacturers have shown incredible price consistency among multiple decades.
- Historical performance: The previous Rolex Explorer II reference is already being traded at double the original retail price.
- Quality: Rolex produces luxury watches of the highest quality which hold value exceptionally well.

Cost Analysis

Asset Value	14,600 €
Service Costs	700 €
Price	15,300 €
Number of Splints	306
Price per Splint	50 €

- The price of €15,300 includes the price of the watch, shipping, handling, 7 years of storage and insurance. €14,600 can be attributed to the watch.
- Splint Invest will charge an exit fee of 2% applied to the proceeds from the sale of the asset.
- Each Splint holder bears a proportional part of the costs.

Rating

Return

We see considerable upside potential in this investment due to the limited supply and the fact that customer interest in the Explorer series has grown continually. This interest usually peaks when a certain is discontinued – this production stop leads to a further price spike on the secondary market.

Stability

The considerable upside potential surely makes this asset more susceptible to price fluctuations. We are nonetheless confident that the price will never fall below our original entry price.

Track Record

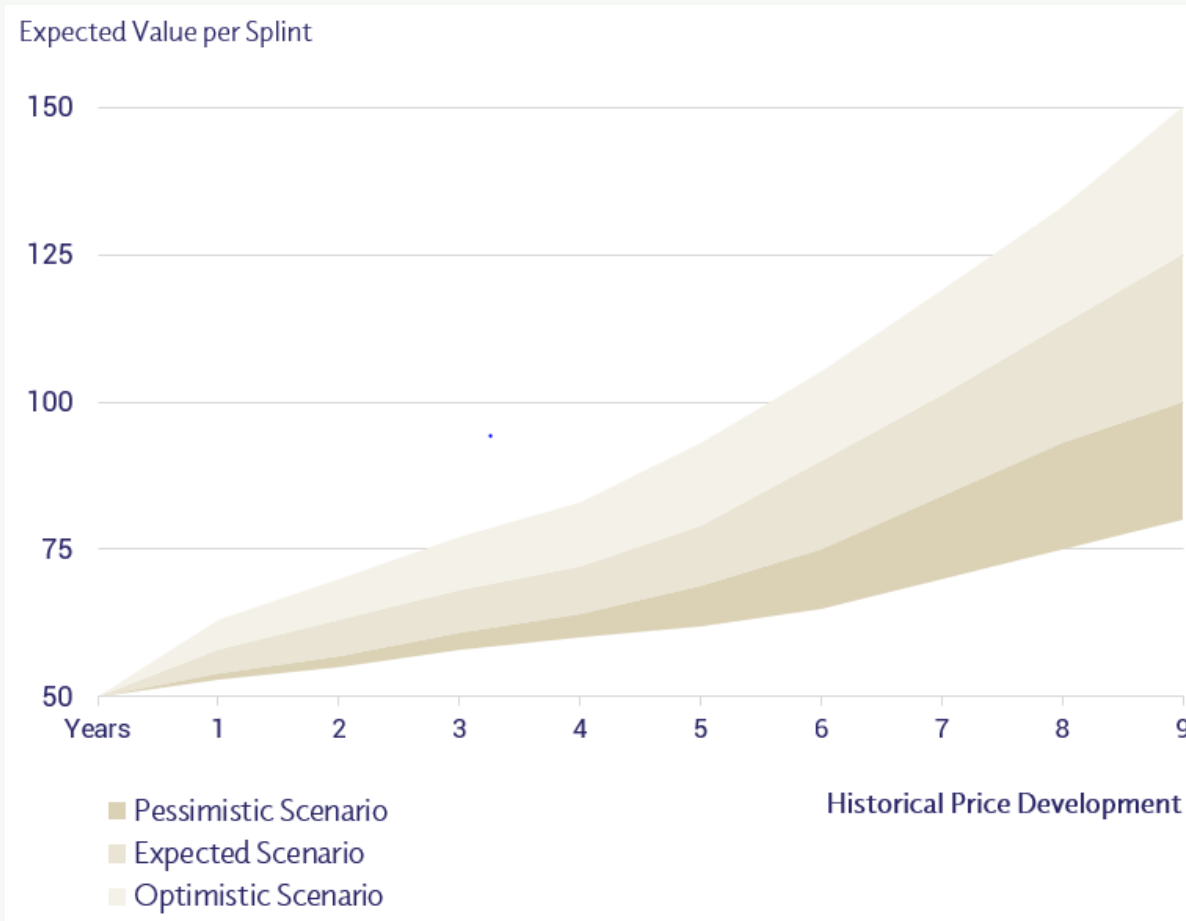

The Rolex Explorer has shown impressive value development since it first hit markets. As with other steel sport models, the Explorer is being traded far above original retail prices.

Investment Horizon of 5 to 7 years

- Investment horizon has been set to 5 to 7 years
- Until recently, the Rolex Explorer was a model that could be easily picked up from the boutiques. Increased interest in this model will probably lead to further price increases on the secondary market.
- The Rolex Explorer is an emblematic model that is easily recognizable.

Value Forecast

- Since this model has been released in 2021, it is hard to forecast a price development based on historical performance. Nonetheless, our analysts estimate the fair value of the watch to be around double our purchase price. This is based on the value development of comparable Rolex models.
- We therefore estimate that a €50 investment can increase in value to anything from €80 to €100.

*Watch prices can change, and historical data is not a guarantee for future performance.
